

What is Sunday?

What is Sunday
without—

What is Sunday without the St. Louis Globe-Democrat

The Reliable Paper

When You Get the Sunday Globe-Democrat You Get All the News and the Most Interesting Sunday Newspaper Features

Here Are Some of the Splendid Features You Will Find in Next Sunday's Globe-Democrat:

The Restless Sex, Robert W. Chambers' latest novel.
The Middle Temple Murder, the mystery story that made President Wilson better.

Make the plunge and become a picture star, telling what you must do first.

Three of a Kind, a complete short story by H. C. Witwer.

Digging up Brother Elmer, a fiction story by Sewell Ford.

Bill Titus, a complete story of a rancher, a rich girl and a worthless chap.

The Humorous Side of the State Fair, character sketches by A. Russell.

The Apache Gang in Paris, a story of bandit doings in the French Capital.

Polly and Her Pals, a comic with the fun centering around Polly, a leader in styles and feminine innovations.

The Katzenjammer Kids, the great household comic that makes millions laugh.

Just Boy, Fera's great page of boyhood humor will carry you back to childhood.

Barney Google—for making 'em laugh there is nothing quite like De Beck's comic page.

"Nightmare of Yankee Menace to South America"—a story of Manuel Ugarto of Argentina and his fixed idea that the inhabitants of the United States are greedy, unscrupulous and imperialistic.

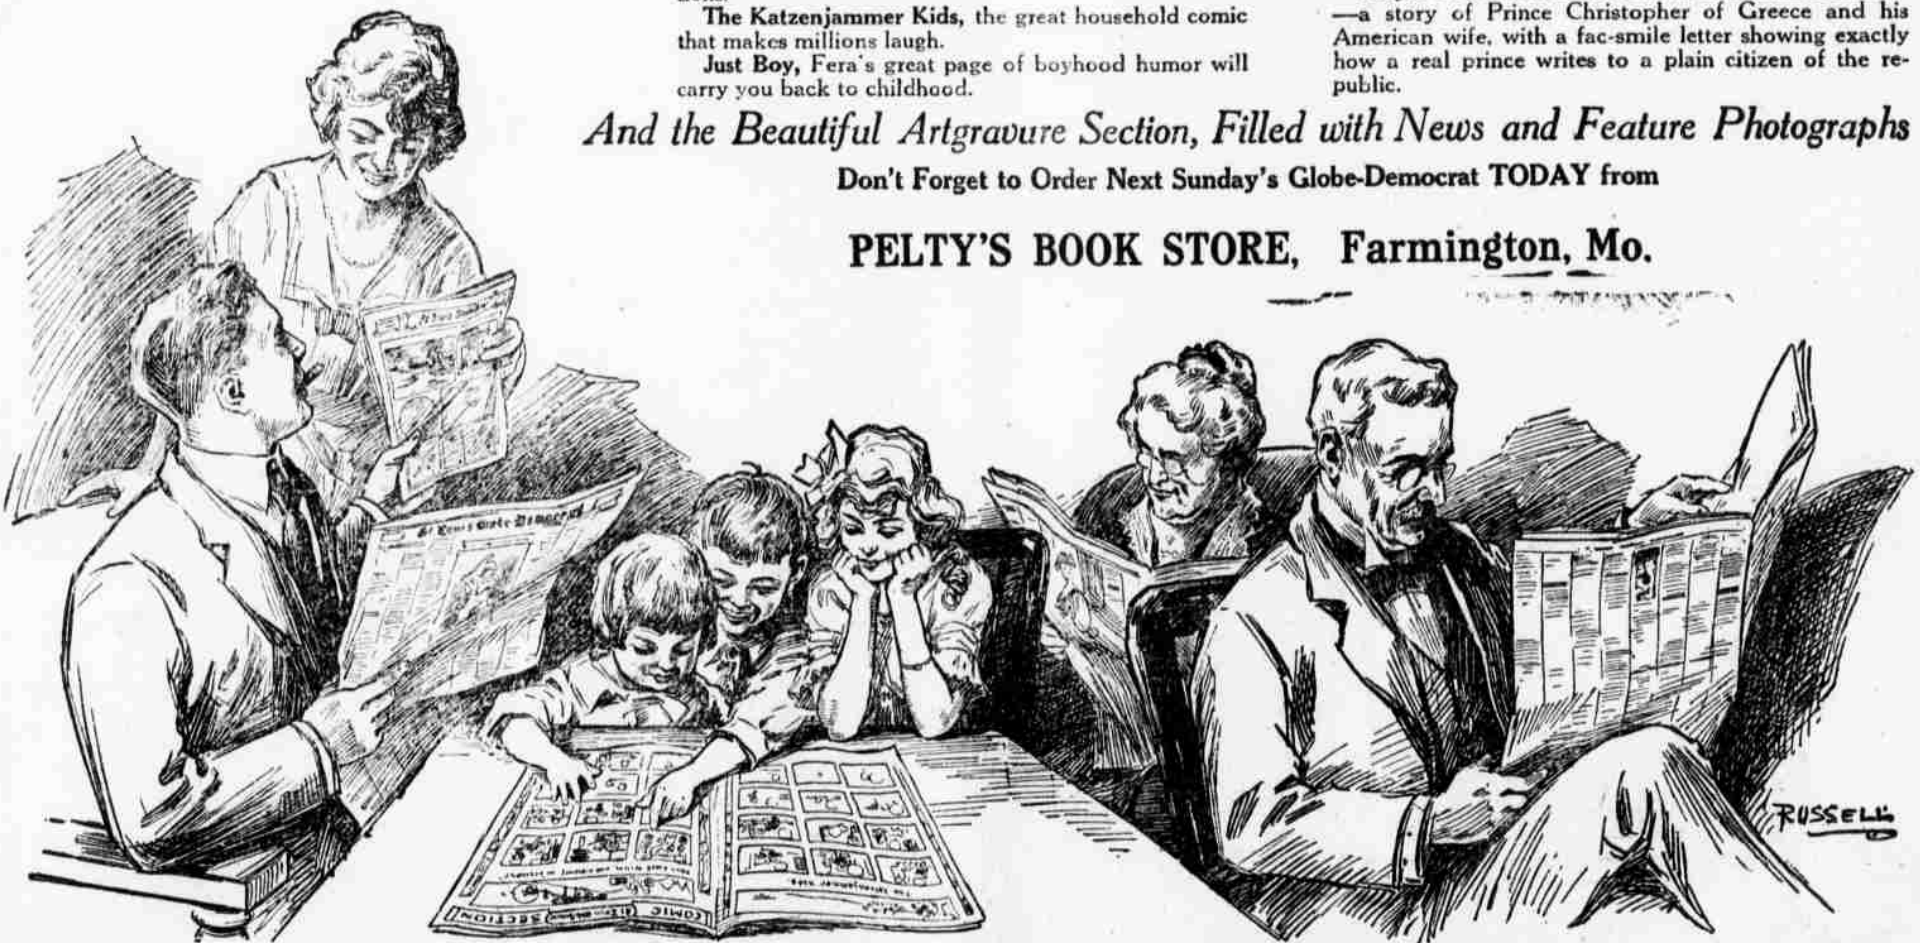

"Alaska's Needs and Rich Promises"—showing what a stepchild of a nation has done for it and can do for it and containing a plea of justice for the Alaskans.

"Royal Greek Democrats and an American Princess"—a story of Prince Christopher of Greece and his American wife, with a fac-smile letter showing exactly how a real prince writes to a plain citizen of the republic.

And the Beautiful Artgrature Section, Filled with News and Feature Photographs

Don't Forget to Order Next Sunday's Globe-Democrat TODAY from PELTYS BOOK STORE, Farmington, Mo.

ACID PHOSPHATE INCREASES TOMATO YIELDS.

Early reports from Webster County of results obtained on the tomato fertilizer plots and tests for wilt-resistant varieties of tomatoes are showing some interesting results. The four fertilizer plots are divided into four strips, each of one-fourth of an acre. One strip was treated with 3-12-3 fertilizer, one with 3-12-0, one with 16 per cent acid phosphate, and one received no treatment. The weights of the tomatoes at the first picking from these demonstration fields resulted in 10 pounds being produced by the plot receiving no treatment, while the average of the fertilizer strips was 138 pounds. Fertilizer was applied at the rate of 200 pounds to the acre. When the weights for the entire season have been determined, it will be possible to select the fertilizer treatment which has proved most economical. The present appearance of the plots indicates that the acid phosphate will be most economical on the strong and 3-12-0 on the poor soils. In one field where ordinary varieties and wilt-resistant varieties were set side by side, the section containing the ordinary varieties show seventy-five per cent damage while there is hardly a diseased plant in the wilt-resistant section. Field meetings on these plots will be held soon under the direction of J. T. Rosa, Jr., of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture, who planned the experiments.

Better Cream Prices Thru Organization.

The Harrison County Dairy Association organized at Bethany several years ago recently held a picnic where addresses were made by men from the College of Agriculture and others. This was an all day meeting with a basket dinner in connection. Approximately 300 dairymen were present, and it is worthy of note that all stayed for the entire program.

This dairy association was organized to secure a better market for cream. It has been the practice of the Association to contract their cream for a year to the creamery bidding the highest for it. The contract now in force pays the farmers two cents more than is offered by the New York market. This price ranges from 8 to 20 cents a pound more than local prices, depending on fluctuation in the New York market.

John Donlin, a labor leader, declares that the wage-earner is just as responsible for the high cost of living as any other agency, because of his deliberate restriction of production.

HOME SWEET HOME

by Earl Hunt

